WE NOMINATE

Hyman Llewellyn Battle Jr. and William Michael Miller, two distinguished young Princetonians, who twice in the space of nine years—twice before either of them has reached the age of 30—have served their nation as citizen-soldiers. Just back from Korea, and once more reverting to inactive status in the Marine Corps Reserve, these Stanworth neighbors and World War II room-mates are reluctant to discuss personal experiences but they do reflect the sincerity of purpose and determination that will make it possible for these United States to weather the hurricanes of world tension.

Some 18 months ago Battle, an alumnus of Princeton, was practicing law in New York City and Miller, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School, was making his start in the retail business field. In kaleidoscopic succession came the call to active duty, three months of intensive training, a brief leave and then immediate assignment to elements of the First Marine Division, headquartered last August at Hinchon, Korea. Nine months later, on the man-for-man rotation plan, First Lieutenants Battle and Miller—veterans of a war some refuse to call a war—headed for homes they had established here shortly after the last world war.

Leaving to others discussions of overall strategy and questions of national policy, Battle, 27 years old, and Miller, 29, brought back with them reports of well equipped, eager "troopers", who sense better than their civilian counterparts the urgency of their mission. Along the stabilized Korean front, where in places the enemy is only yards away, there is little talk about, and less hope for, the headline-bloated truce parleys. How can there be a truce, Miller and Battle ask, when the Reds with a minimum of effort have already succeeded in forcing a major diversion of strength on our part?

In an utterly devastated land, Battle, a tank officer throughout his Korean tour, learned how to commit tanks on mountain-slopes and even on mountain-tops, and how to hammer away at rebuilt bunkers his guns had destroyed the morning before. Miller, detailed first to Amphibious Tractors and subsequently to a South Korean infantry battalion as a liaison officer, provided the staff link between skilled units and inadequately trained Asiatics. For them it was at times grim, at times frustrating; and for them it was always an American war.

For outstanding service to the ideals for which this country stands; for knowing it will take infinitely more than appropriations to secure the things free men believe in; for not forgetting that "two others like us replaced us"; the above-named are TOWN TOPICS' nominees for Action on Shopping Center. Clearview Associates, the corporation headed by Theodore R. Potts which is planning creation of the Princeton Shopping Center, this week switched on the green light for its multi-million dollar project. After months of delay resulting from the materials shortage, construction is scheduled to begin July 15 and the entire area is now expected to be in operation by next March.

Satisfactory financial arrangements have been completed, Mr. Potts said, and 60 percent of the available floor space is reported on lease. Other prospective tenants will be considered for the center by Skillman and Skillman, Realtors, of 247 Nassau Street.

Major leases already signed are those with L. Bamberger and Co. and with the American Stores Company for a super-market. S. S. Kresge will operate a variety store in the center, where 209,000 square feet (some five acres) of sales space will be utilized. Parking facilities for 3,000 cars will be provided.

Other attractions will include a nine-acre park deeded by Mr. Potts to Princeton township for public use, and a recreation and amusement area which will cater to children while parents are shopping. The center's basic theme is "one-stop" shopping in a manner not presently provided elsewhere in the state.

The go-ahead signal was raised following receipt of a permit from the National Production Authority for allocation of the necessary construction materials. Clearview Associates' statement announcing the start of construction reports that this government agency has "been presented with clear evidence showing the need for increased shopping facilities in the rapidly-growing Princeton community."

Accomplished while the actual construction waited were the stripping of 17,000 tons of top soil from the site in the northeast section of Princeton township; the moving of 123,000 cubic yards of earth for proper grading; and the digging of some five and a half miles of drainage trenches.

Russell W Skillman of the rental agents' firm has labelled the center "a $5,500,000 development." Its goal: annual retail sales above the $15,000,000 mark, a total well in excess of the current 12-month dollar volume in the present Princeton business section.

Gala June Weekend. Five thousand strong, they were coming back—for the weekend of class reunions that makes Princeton just a bit different from any other college in the land. Young men, just out of college, (some of whose classmates are fighting in Korea); men 10 and 20 years out; the Class of 1927, scheduled to lead Saturday' gay parade as the 25-year class; 1902, back in strength after a half century; and the Old Guard, those who had graduated more than 50 years ago.

Oldest class planning a formal reunion was 1886, a number of whose 18 members will gather for dinner at the home of Dr. Charles R. Erdman of 20 Library Place. On hand, too, will be two of the five living members of the Class of 1882, now out of college for seven full decades. Henry Crew of Evanston, Ill., will come here to join the Rev. Paul Martin of 8 Evelyn Place.

One alumnus, possibly more than any other, had a record of attendance that was the envy of all reunion-loving Princetonians: James R. Hughes of Bellefonte, Pa., was coming back for the 67th consecutive year since he graduated in June of 1885.

Biggest attendance was forecast for 1927, which was expected to draw more than 350 (some 65 percent) of its members to its headquarters in the spacious courtyard of Holder Hall. Keynote of the weekend would be the growing trend toward faculty-led conferences and forums, reflecting a desire on the part of many an alumnus to increase his learning, even if briefly, while back on the campus "at the best old place of all."

From a spectator's vantage point, the costumes, floats, music and gaiety would be maintained at the level of former years. Here and there, however, an economy note had taken a firm hold.

The ten-year Class of '42 for example, was staging a "revival reunion" in which the inflationary trend of the past five years was not to be felt. To keep its reunion dues the same as they were in 1917, class members living in Princeton had done most of the carpentry work (bars, platforms, etc.) at headquarters themselves. A barbecue would replace the class dinner; in the parade, a truck-drawn calliope and hurdy-gurdy would provide music instead of a big band. Symbol of the revival: gay '90's bathing suit costumes, topped by straw hats.

Friday's conferences and Saturday's parade and ball game through Monday's class day and Tuesday's commencement exercises, the gala five-day program would appeal to thousands of Princetonians. (For a complete list of events, see Calendar of the Week.)

The Young in Heart. Two of Princeton's long-time residents flew to Paris last week to spend three months in France and Switzerland. They are Mrs. William Koren and her sister, Miss Adelaide Thornell, of 17 Maple Street.

Their trip was completed comfortably and enjoyably overnight and their orchid corsages were as fresh as they were on arrival in the French capital. This summer, they will visit Mrs. Koren's sons, William Jr., who serves the State Department as first secretary in the U. S. Embassy in Paris, and H. Thornell Koren, assigned to Berne, Switzerland, with similar rank in the U.S. Legation there.

After a flight to Haiti two winters ago, when Mrs. Koren's younger son was stationed there, both she and her sister are veterans of air travel. Both are octogenarians but saw nothing unusual about their plans to fly to Europe and back. "I don't see why anyone should make a fuss about this," Miss Thornell remarked before leaving. "To hear people talk, you'd think we were 100."

Fast Figuring. A high-speed electronic computing machine, smallest and fastest ever built, was unveiled Tuesday at the Institute for Advanced Study. Its functions in pure and applied mathematics and mathematical physics are somewhat beyond the layman's sphere of knowledge, but brief statistics on Save Money on Food. What sweeter words could a housewife hear! The plan we're going to describe to you is said to save between 15% and 23% of your food costs, so hang on and listen.

You buy a freezer from Nassau Appliance, 252 Nassau. It can be either eight or 12 cubic feet, and it does not have to be any particular brand. With the freezer, you get a full six months' supply of frozen food: beef, lamb, chicken, fish, pork and bacon, plus your choice of packaged fruits and vegetables.

What do you pay? Forty dollars down, $21 a month. Here's the way Nassau Appliance has it figured out. Say your food budget is $100 a month. About 75% of that sum is normally paid out for foods that are in your freezer. Things like flour, sugar and so on account for the other 25%.

Actually, once you've made the down payment, you have $75 a month that you aren't spending for food. You pay $21 of that amount as your monthly payment.

Now, Nassau Appliance hopes that you will put aside the $54 left after you subtract $21 from $75. Because with the money you save, you can restock your freezer at wholesale prices when the initial six months' supply has been eaten up.

Besides, you'll be able to buy and freeze foods while they're relatively low in price, and you can freeze whatever your garden yields this summer, at no cost whatsoever! The freezer is on display at Nassau Appliance, and we suggest you stop by and look the situation over.

Wedding Gift to Buy? Try the Better Mousetrap, 164 Nassau, where you will find gifts made of wrought iron and steel, in those clean and delicate lines that go so well in a small house.

We liked a triangle lamp that looks like a vanilla ice cream cone on black legs. You'd never believe it's only $10.95. Another, $4 more, is not quite so extreme in shape. It has a shallow drum shade on a tripod base.

You've probably seen all these iron objects in Life or House Beautiful because they've been featured in national magazines. You may recall pictures of a basket, or fruit bowl. It consists of concentric circles of black steel about an inch apart and mounted on legs. Another basket—it says fruit bowl, and it will hold fruit, but don't try loose grapes! - is oval and slightly larger.

We think $4.95 is inexpensive for such a high style wedding present. If you know your bride's tastes run to modern, what better gift?

Even if your newly-wed plans to decorate a house in the traditional manner, she can use wrought iron outdoors in summer. Candlesticks, tall and short, or a triple candlestick with each candle at a different height would hold soft lights for outdoor dining.

Other wedding gifts would help its calculating ability are indicative of the accomplishments of a staff that has worked for six years under the direction of Professor John von Neumann.

The machine produces 2,000 multiplications per second, 1,200 divisions, or 100,000 additions. It has a "memory system" of 40 cathode ray tubes and makes contact to the memory organ in 1 40,000 of a second. In all, it contains some 2,340 vacuum tubes.

Considerable scientific progress is expected from perfection of the machine. For example, it has already completed a large number-theoretical problem to test a conjecture of a famous 19th century mathematician which could never before be established. To do so, "the brain" worked continuously for six hours, performing about 20 million multiplications.

Household Remedy. Dog owners whose pets come away second best in an encounter with a skunk have had small recourse up to the present. They have had three alternatives: shoot the skunk, which doesn't abate the smell he's left; give over their house to the dog until he is once more man's best friend; or stop breathing for a week.

We have now been advised by our research department of a new remedy, tried and true. Wash the dog in tomato juice, or, if that's not handy, tomato catsup. It does the trick, quickly and completely.

Prize Winners. Princeton High School students have won scholarships with a potential value in excess of $55,000 over the next four years, Principal Harold A. Odell has announced. Topping the list was Sarah Christian, who won awards totalling $2,950 from five different colleges.

Other big scholarships went to Robert Braden, John McElroy and George Thomas, the first-named from Cornell and the Westinghouse Corporation, the other two from Princeton University. Thomas will study under a Naval R.O.T.C. grant.

Other award winners included Ruth Atwood, Barbara Brickley, James Cooper, Priscilla Cortelyou, Audrey Drake, Estell Henlein, Norman Hume, Sarah Johnson, Dolores Kauffman, Judith Kokesh, Cynthia Lane, Josephine Lisi, Helen Mahy, Helen Ragany, Christian Smith, Kate Szklai, Helen West and George Willis.

High School commencement exercises will take place Wednesday night at 8 in McCarter Theatre, when a class of more than 200 receives diplomas. Keith Rowan heads a committee planning the program, whose theme will be "The Younger Generation."

Timothy E. Ward won the Headmaster's Cup (for exemplary leadership based on character) at the Princeton Country Day School exercises Monday night, and was also honored with a trophy as the school's best athlete. The Faculty Cup (for "manhood . . . learning . . . gentleness") went to John C. Wellemeyer, while scholarship cups for best grades in the upper and lower schools, repectively, went to Michael McKenzie and Edward G. Thorber.

George G. Cuyler won the Alumni Cup as the fifth form's top student, while awards for endeavor and improvement went to Laurence C. Ward, 3d and Kenneth C. Seasscura. Senior prizes in English and ancient history went to Theodore L. Shear, Jr., who tied for prizes in Latin and French with Rensselaer W. Lee, 3d. Lee, Shear and James R. Hiller tied for the Murch Cup in mathematics.

Twin Victories Sought. For the first time in nine years, Princeton's baseball team will take the field against Yale in the traditional commencement game with a chance to sweep the season's series against the Elis. Southpaw Harry Brightman, whose last effort was the brilliant no-hitter against Fordham, will be on the mound for the Tigers.

Coach Eddie Donovan's opportunity to do what Emerson Dickman never achieved is due almost solely to the performance that Dave Sisler turned in at New Haven last Saturday. The tall right-hander blanked the Blue on a lone hit and scored the only run of the game himself.

For the last three seasons, the Tigers have made just one run in each of three games against Yale on the latter's diamond. Twice that cost them 2-1 defeats; last week, Sisler's sizzling fast ball and quick-breaking curve made the lone tally stand up. He walked only two, hit one and fanned nine. No Eli runner reached third base on him and the lone safety (a solid blow to right) came with one away in the sixth.

The whitewash was the third straight racked up by the able Nassau junior. Some indication of his ability can be gained from the fact that in these three games, he has had a total of just five runs' margin, winning over Columbia, 2-0; Penn, 2-0; and Yale, 1-0. In these 27 innings, he yielded just six hits.

Last week was also marked by a 7-2 defeat at Rutgers' hands, charged to Ray Chirurgi. The split set the season's record at 10-11, with Saturday's clash vital to reaching the break-even point.

Champions Repeat. Another great season went into the record books for the Princeton High School track team Saturday when the Little Tigers were the only 1951 champion to repeat in the state tournament at Montclair. They kept the Group III title with 43 2/3 points to a mere 16 for Rahway, with 30 other schools trailing.

Co-Captain Tom Perks, a great performer with the weights, scored 14 points, winning the shot and the javelin and placing second in the discus. Other winners were Co-captain Buster Thomas in the high jump (he was also second in the 100-yard dash); and Charlie Streater in the pole vault. Jim Varner placed in three events—both hurdles and the broad jump, while Carl Brown was third in the high hurdles and Walt Wells fifth in the broad jump. Other point winners were Larry Fitzgerald and Chase Rosner, second and third in the javelin.

Earlier in the week, the Blue and White had nailed Trenton Catholic, 75-42, making the losers its 34th straight victim in dual competition. The four-year winning streak, which now totals 47 in meets of all kinds, is a tremendous Miss Fine's School's 52d commencement exercises will be held Monday night at 8:30, with Miss Shirley Davis, headmistress, presiding. The Rev. Dr. Robert R. Wicks (also honored with selection as the speaker at Country Day) will give the address to the graduates. Twelve seniors will receive diplomas.

At Miss Fine's lower school final assembly of the year, the Ruth Colt Prize went to Eileen Baker, with Catherine Otis and Mary Elizabeth Alexander as runners-up. The award is made to a girl "to be particularly commended for her effort, achievement and spirit." Frances Hitchcock, a pupil at the school for only a year, received a special award for general excellence, while Richard Baker was enmmended for "outstanding work, effort and citizenship."

New Site for Inspection. The evening of Friday, June 27, has been set as the date for the annual inspection of the fire department by the mayor and council. A feature attraction in the parade will be the presence of the gaily-dressed Penndel (Pa.) String Band, which will also give an exhibition on the Princeton High School grounds.

The inspection will be held this year for the first time in the circular driveway in front of the high school. Reason: the trees on the drive leading to the Battle Monument have grown so much that the area is no longer large enough for such a function.

Club Formed. Organization of The Town Club, to facilitate the social activities of young adults in the community, was announced this week by its newly-elected officers. The group has 43 charter members who represent a dozen different business, educational and research organizations in Princeton.

Program activities will include picnics, dances, bridge and beach parties, as well as talks given by business and community leaders credit to Coach Irwin Weiss, who has achieved the finest possible blend of getting the most out of his athletes while retaining their respect and admiration.

Softball Standings. The Cenerinos were turned back twice last week to make a tight race of the American Softball League. The Phantoms beat them, 4-1, and then the University Laundry & Cleaners staged the upset of the season with a 9-5 victory over the league leaders.

The same Laundry aggregation was also involved in another phenomenon, an 18-18 tie with the Sportsmen's Club that must have left the scorekeeper with numb fingers and an aching brain. The Nassau Johnnies split, losing to Oldis Movers, 20-13, before edging the Phantoms, 4-3, in an extra-inning battle.

Standings at the beginning of the week showed the Cenerinos on top with a 6-2 mark, followed by the Nassau Johnnies at 5-2. Trailing were Oldis Movers, 3-4; Sportsmen and Phantoms, each 2-3; and University Laundry, 1-5.

What had threatened to become a runaway race in the National League was halted Tuesday night when the Nassau Social Club trounced previously unbeaten RCA, 14-5. The losers thus dropped their first start in five and held a thin half-game margin over the Social Club.

Results last week had seen RCA pound AVC, 10-2; the Social Club blank ETS 2, 12-0; ETS 1 whip Heyden Chemical, 9-4; and Jugtown edge ORC, 10-9. Trailing the leaders are ETS 1, Heyden, AVC, Jugtown, ETS 2 and ORC.

As it has in the past, Kings Inn is proving the class of the Girls' League, ranking as the only unbeaten team on a basis of its 4-0 mark. The last triumph was registered by a one-sided 21-3 margin over the Gulf Station.

Peresett Appliance advanced to the .500 mark with a 7-6 squeaker over ETS, while Coans Clubbers again outslugged an opponent when they topped Veterans Taxi, 17-11. Standings up to this Thursday night show Coans in second place, 3-1; Gulf Station and Peresett, each 2-2; ETS, 1-3 and Veterans Taxi, 0-4.

Short Notes. For the first time in several years, Princeton finished the Eastern League baseball season without achieving a single mark of distinction. The Tigers were third in the southern division but no better than tied for fifth on an overall basis. Dave Sisler won more games (four) than any other pitcher in the southern division but his good earned run average of 1.70 was third.

News of the Theatres

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

Lady in the Dark, with Kitty Carlisle in the leading role, is the attraction at this summer theatre in New Hope through June 21. The ticket demand is reported high, with some of the remaining performances already sold out.

The musical, in which Danny Kaye starred when it was first presented on Broadway a dozen years ago, traces the romantic problems of a fashion magazine editor. The picturesque dreams she has create much of the plot action, with comedy, color and drama all unfolding against a tuneful background.

The season's second attraction at the Bucks County Playhouse will be "Count Your Blessings," a new comedy with Albert Dekker that Ezra Stone is directing. The play is heading for Broadway in the fall.

MUSIC CIRCUS

Blossom Time, the Sigmund Romberg play based on the life and music of Franz Schubert, is the attraction at the Lambertville Music Circus through Sunday. Lois Hunt of the Metropolitan Opera Company is among those featured in the cast of this production, which first was staged in New York 30 years ago.

The Firefly, another popular operetta, opens Tuesday and will run through Saturday. Elaine Malbin and Edward Chappel head the cast.

THE McCARTER

Sextette, a new comedy with Mae West, is scheduled for its premiere at the Princeton Summer Theatre on Monday, June 23. Performances will be given throughout that week as the sixth straw hat season opens here.

Written by Frances Hope, the comedy is designed to give Miss West's talents for audience appeal full play. Lavishly costumed in a lush setting (the bridal suite of a London hotel), she is cast in the role of a six-time bride whose latest husband learns only on their honeymoon of his five predecessors.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Scaramouche (Thurs.-Sat.), latest version of Rafael Sabatini's familiar story, has color, romance, action and a typically lavish setting, as it unfolds its story of adventure in revolutionary France. Janet Leigh, Stewart Granger, Eleanor Parker and Mel Ferrer are the principals, with the spectacular duel between Mr. Ferrer and Mr. Granger highlighting the action. Unevenly paced but generally enjoyable (Second show at 9:15.)

Lydia Bailey (Sun.-Tues.) is the Kenneth Roberts novel of several years ago brought to the screen in faithful fashion. Set at the turn of seacoast. George Murphy leads the government agents in tracking down the Soviet ring formed to pry secrets of inter-space theories out of U. S. scientists. A Louis de Rochemont production that is well acted and maintains interest throughout.

THE GARDEN

Bugles in the Afternoon (Fri.-Sat.) mingles Indian fighting, including the doomed Custer expedition, with Technicolored scenery and romancing between Ray Milland and Helena Carter. But the western's main claim to fame—well-paced action—is missing, leaving a somewhat unsatisfactory impression. With Hugh Marlowe, Forrest Tucker.

Look for the Silver Lining (Mon.-Tues.), a 1949 production back for a second run, is the musical biography of Marilyn Miller. Supporting the vaudeville-to-big-time theme are such nostalgic pieces as "Time on My Hands," "Who" and "A Kiss in the Dark." June Haver, Ray Bolger and Gordon MacRae in an average song-and-dance production.

Train of Events (Wed.-Thurs.) is a British mystery-drama in which the principal action, as the title implies, occurs aboard a train. Good photography and sound effects, plus a fair share of suspense, are the film's assets. Valerie Hobson heads the cast.

The Outcasts of Poker Flat (Fri.-Sat.), a Bret Harte story, tells of four souls of varied reputations—none of them top-flight—who are tossed out of town as the result of a theft. Taking refuge in a mountain cabin, they become snowbound, with conflict among them and retribution for their wrongs providing the action. Anne Baxter, Dale Robertson, Miriam Hopkins in a satisfactory drama.

PEOPLE YOU CAN TRUST

years ago brought to the screen in faithful fashion. Set at the turn of the 19th century in Haiti, it records that small country's struggle for independence from the French and Napoleon. Central characters are the girl in the title role, whose rescue is effected by an adventurous American attorney while the battle for freedom rages. With Dale Robertson, Anne Francis.

Preceding the main attraction will be a short subject entitled "Backfire" produced by the Princeton Film Center. The principal setting is Princeton High School; other scenes were filmed at the high school in Pennington.

P. H. S. pupils identifiable as the story unfolds include Nancy Lee Kettle, Mary Jo Smith, Elizabeth Schmitz, Robert McClusky, Richard Buxton, Roberta Angus, Charles Clowes, Carol Scasserra, Sandra Jefferson and Phyllis Bellows. Principal Harold A. Odell also appears, while Mrs. Olive McKee of the faculty was responsible for much of the off-screen coordination of the young cast.

Sponsored by the American Economic Foundation, the picture seeks to dispel the economic falsehood created by belief in the Marxian doctrine, "From each according to his ability and to each according to his needs." A classroom approach to the need for instilling initiative and belief in free enterprise in every American gives the picture a common and yet often dramatic touch.

Nationwide distribution in 35mm to theatrical audiences is planned, while non-theatrical groups will be served with 16mm prints. Film Center estimate for the first year's showing is an audience of 5,000,000.

Walk East on Beacon (Wed.-Sat.) is a semi-documentary drama that spins a tale of F.B.I. spy-chasing against the real-life backdrop of Boston and the New Hampshire to fill the bride's linen closet. A hand-woven all-linen luncheon set costs only $13.50. The cloth is bigger than the usual card table size, and the six napkins are included in that price. Better Mousetrap has the set in honey or hunter green, but you can order it in any color the bride wants.

There are separate napkins in pure linen, too. Little extra ones that come in so handy when the new homemaker has more guests than she counted on.

In the placemat department is a fine white linen with a gold cock strutting proudly in the center. And, in a baser metal but just as striking, is a placemat of heavy aluminum foil. It's a fancy circle about 14 inches in diameter with 12 leaf-points around the edge, rather like a zodiac. You can imagine how glittery and gay a set of them would be under candlelight, especially if they were laid on a glass-top table.

Incidentally, if you buy them as a gift, tell the bride she can wipe them off after each tour of the table, and that she can press the design back in with her finger if it rubs out smooth. Price: 50 cents each.

Let's Eat Out Tonight. You will find it hard to believe for only $4.49, but there's the price printed on the box. It's a Hi-Lo outdoor stove and grill, portable in its case and on sale at Tiger Auto, 26 Witherspoon. On this stove, you can grill, broil, fry or boil.

For frying, you take off the grill and substitute a flat sheet, "short-order" style. You fry your hamburgers, eggs, potatoes, or what have you, right on the sheet. You don't even have to wash it off: just wipe it clean.

The fuel pan (charcoal) can be raised or lowered to bring the heat close to your cooking surface or to keep it at a distance. We bet you never use a stove again, all summer.

Who washes the car? With a Quik-Jet, you might even enjoy the job yourself. You fill half this cylinder with detergent, screw it onto the hose and lively soapsuds spew out of the nozzle all over your car. For $3.95, and it works on fountain brushes or car washers, too.

A transparent green plastic Scatter Bug, for 79 cents, will keep bugs off your windshield all summer. You fasten it under the hood ornament on your car.

Where You Going? Just looking, thanks, at the travel accessories at Clayton's, Palmer Square West. A cardboard hatbox, big enough to hold more than one hat, is covered in navy plastic that looks like moire. It's $2.95, and for $3.95 more, you may buy a matching carry-all.

This convenient folding bag is designed for the overflow shoes that wouldn't fit into your suitcase. Six pockets, it has. You fold it flat, between trips, and keep it shut when full by means of a zipper that goes nearly around three sides.

here to acquaint club members better with the town in which they live, Marshall C. Carpenter, Jr. has been elected president of the organization.

Chosen to serve with him are Miss Ann Stewart, secretary, and Leonard Newton, treasurer. Committee chairmen include Miss Barbara Gage and Elmore Day, program; Bryce Maxwell, membership; Miss Betsy Dunkle, public relations; Bruce Rankin, arrangements. Interested prospective members are invited to write Maxwell at 26 Alexander Street or Carpenter at RCA Laboratories.

Miscellany. All high school girls interested in improving their knowledge of baby-sitting are invited to attend a meeting Wednesday at 12 noon at the Y.W.C.A., 202 Nassau Street. A "Baby Sitters Club" has been started by the Y-Teens to provide such instruction.

Miss Caroline Savage, Robert Laughlin and Harvey Fergusson of Princeton have been selected as members of a group of the Experiment in International Living going to Europe this summer. Miss Savage will live for a month with a German family, Mr. Laughlin with a French family, Mr. Fergusson with an Italian family, sharing their daily experiences and ideas. A month's camping trip will follow.

Founded 20 years ago by Donald B. Watt, a Princeton graduate, the project has been markedly successful in creating groups of people in various countries interested in promoting mutual respect and understanding between their own and other lands. Approval has come from the State Department with the request that young people from other lands be selected for placement as students in the United States.

A few openings remain in some of the 20 groups going abroad this summer. Interested high school or college students should seek further details from Miss Frances Kleeman, 140 Nassau Street, an Experiment representative.

Sons have been born to Mr. and Mrs. William Flagg, 19 South Stanworth Drive; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Worthington, Southern Way; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tucker, 87 Birch Avenue; daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hook, 304 North Harrison Street; Mr. and Mrs. Rowan Boone, Greenhouse Drive; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schultz, 110 Prospect Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lane, 402-C Butler Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Genifrico Pirone, 127 Jefferson Road; Mr. and Mrs. William E. Schmidt, 223-B Halsey Street; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roberts, 32 North Stanworth.

The Methodist Church Vacation Church School will open June 23 and run from 9 to 11:45 a.m. through July 3. Music, worship and crafts are on the program, with periods for outdoor play, relaxation and refreshments to be included. All children from 4 to 12 are eligible to enroll; Mrs. Robert S. Shaw is general superintendent.

Ronald C. Beagles, son of Mrs. Cora Beagles of 256 John Street, has returned to MacDill Air Force Base in Tampa, Fla., where he is a senior jet mechanic. Beagles, who graduated from Princeton High School two years ago, was home on leave last month.

Clayton's has utility bags in all sizes, too. They will hold anything from a wet washcloth to a row of perfume bottles in flexible plastic.

The biggest knitting bag you ever saw is the best description of Knitility. In lemon, green and white, or aqua and raspberry, it has a strap that goes through loops like the belt on your dress.

There's a buttoned pocket outside and pockets in the plastic lining. These things are absolutely huge—you have no idea. We guess they're a good two feet, each way.

Let's get off the train for a minute. Look at these hot roll warmers. Somebody has taken three circles of heavy cotton about a foot across, and sewed them together. When they are cupped in a basket, they fall into 12 neat pockets, one for each hot cinnamon roll. For $2, and with a basket, $3. You'll be amused over their unique design as you are pleased with their appearance. Wonder why we never thought of the idea ourselves?
